Human communication is essential to our growth and development as people in a global society. Become a strong communicator who engages cultures, communities, professions and personal relationships in ways that are effective, compelling and influential.

Program Description

The BA program in communication in the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts explores how communication processes create, maintain and transform identities, relationships, workplaces and communities.

Through the exploration, analysis and application of human communication, students gain the knowledge, creativity and skills they need to facilitate healthy relationships and workplaces, civil and sustainable communities and constructive intercultural interactions. With an integrative and applied emphasis on culture and communication, community advocacy and communication technologies, the degree allows for a concerted focus on the rapidly changing modalities of communication occurring today. Students learn to speak effectively, communicate across cultures, and critically analyze public controversy in ways that contribute to a variety of career fields.

 Concurrent Program Options

Students pursuing concurrent degrees (also known as a "double major") earn two distinct degrees and receive two diplomas. Working with their academic advisors, students can create their own concurrent degree combination. Some combinations are not possible due to high levels of overlap in curriculum.

Admission Requirements

General University Admission Requirements:
All students are required to meet general university admission requirements.

Transfer Options

ASU is committed to helping students thrive by offering tools that allow personalization of the transfer path to ASU. Students may use MyPath2ASU™ to outline a list of recommended courses to take prior to transfer.

ASU has transfer partnerships in Arizona and across the country to create a simplified transfer experience for students. These pathway programs include exclusive benefits, tools and resources, and they help students save time and money in their college journey. Students may learn more about these programs by visiting the admission site: https://admission.asu.edu/transfer/MyPath2ASU.

Global Opportunities

Global Experience
Students may engage in a unique and exciting opportunity to gain intercultural experience through tailored, international programs of study. They improve their language and cross-cultural skills for effective communication when studying abroad. They also develop critical teamwork and problem-solving skills and expand their knowledge of the liberal arts through lenses of different cultures. Opportunities to study abroad exist across the globe, including in Australia, the United Kingdom and a semester at sea. More information is available on the Global Education website. https://goglobal.asu.edu/
