

English, BA

LSENGBA

If you value reading and writing, this is the degree for you. Gain expertise in informative and imaginative writing, learn about diverse cultures and perspectives through analysis of literature and film, and develop critical thinking skills fundamental to professional success.

Program description

The Bachelor of Arts program in English is focused on literature, writing, film and culture.

Courses address a wide variety of genres, traditions and time periods. Students engage in close reading and critical thinking as they work with powerful, multilayered texts. They build communication skills as they compose for multiple purposes and audiences. The program concludes with a degree capstone that allows students to use their skills and knowledge in a personalized academic or creative project.

Students are encouraged to pursue internship opportunities, such as mentoring youth writers in Young Authors' Studio.

Students must complete a minimum of 12 upper-division credit hours of ENG courses offered by the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts.

Curriculum

Concurrent program options

Students pursuing concurrent degrees (also known as a “double major”) earn two distinct degrees and receive two diplomas. Working with their academic advisors, students can create their own concurrent degree combination. Some combinations are not possible due to high levels of overlap in curriculum.

Accelerated program options

This program allows students to obtain both a bachelor's and master's degree in as little as five years. It is offered as an accelerated bachelor's plus master's degree with:

Liberal Studies, MLSt

Organizational Leadership, MS

Project Management, MPM

Acceptance to the graduate program requires a separate application. Students typically receive approval to pursue the accelerated master's during the junior year of their bachelor's degree program. Interested students can learn about eligibility requirements and how to apply.

Career opportunities

This program prepares scholars and teachers for graduate or professional study and for careers in education, writing and other related fields. Career prospects for secondary language arts teachers in Arizona are particularly strong.

Additionally, graduates have acquired skills that employers value, such as the ability to analyze ideas and problems, find and evaluate information, communicate effectively, and present clear and logical arguments. With these skills, graduates can find jobs such as:

- advertising and promotions manager
- copy writer
- editor
- lawyer (with further education)
- media and communication worker
- paralegal or legal assistant
- public relations specialist
- teacher or instructor
- technical writer
- writer or author

Example job titles and salaries listed below are not necessarily entry level, and students should take into consideration how years of experience and geographical location may affect pay scales. Some jobs also may require advanced degrees, certifications or state-specific licensure.
