

Studio Art, Minor

HISTARTMIN

Complement your major, signal well-roundedness and creative problem-solving skills to future employers, and work in a variety of art practices.

Description

The minor program in studio art enables students to pursue their passion for art while also strengthening academic preparation and developing skills that can assist them in their job search and career.

Coursework delves into a wide range of techniques and concepts, including printmaking, painting, drawing, photography and sculpture, among others. The flexible curriculum allows students to create a course of study based on their individual interests, concentrating on a select studio area or exploring several. Minors within the arts and humanities can offer different perspectives that are useful before and after graduation.

Enrollment requirements

GPA Requirement: None

Incompatible Majors: All BFA in art majors

Other Enrollment Requirements: None

Current ASU undergraduate students may pursue a minor and have it recognized on their ASU transcript at graduation. Minor requirements appear on the degree audit once the minor is added. Certain major and minor combinations may be deemed inappropriate by the college or department of either the major or the minor program. Courses taken for the minor may not count toward both the major and the minor.

Global opportunities

Global experience

Global Education programs provide an opportunity for students to explore their creative side through an intercultural lens, deepen their understanding of the world and gain valuable career-building experiences. Study abroad can prove to be a vital accompaniment to any art program, allowing for broad historical and archaeological explorations. Students develop insight into the cultures and minds of some of the world's most notable artists when they experience the places that gave rise to specific artistic styles.

With more than 300 options available, Global Education programs give students a breadth of knowledge in arts and culture uniquely different from their own. Study abroad encourages students to develop and broaden their intercultural sensitivity, communication skills and leadership ability, and challenges them to think differently. Whether in a foreign country, in the U.S. or online, students learn to adapt and persevere, and they are provided with a chance to look inside themselves in a way they haven't done before, growing their personal and professional self-confidence along the way.

Career opportunities

Graduates of the studio art minor are positioned to expand into any career path and develop additional competencies that complement the marketable knowledge and skills they acquire in their majors. A minor in studio art can help students as they pursue careers in arts-related disciplines and industries.
